YET THEY HAVE CUT QUITE A FIGURE IN THE WORLD'S HISTORY.

The Worm Has No Eyes and No Sense of Hearing, but Is Sensitive to Strong Light and Vibrations of Sound—Objects of Antiquity Preserved by Earthworms.

The common earthworm, despised by man and heedlessly trodden underfoot, fulfills a part in nature that would seem incredible but for the facts revealed by the patient and long continued researches of Darwin. "Worms," says Darwin, "have played a more important part in the history of the world than most persons would at first suppose." Let us follow Darwin and see how this apparently insignificant creature has changed the face of nature. We will first consider the habits and mode of life of the earthworm. As every one knows, the worms live in burrows in the superficial layer of the ground. They can live anywhere in a layer of earth, provided it retains moisture, dry air being fatal to them. They can, on the other hand, exist submerged in water for several months. They live chiefly in the superficial mold less than a foot below the surface, but in long continued dry weather and in very cold seasons they may burrow to a depth of eight feet. The burrows are lined by a thin layer of earth, voided by the worms, and end in small chambers in which they can turn round.

The burrows are formed partly by pushing away the earth, but chiefly by the earth being swallowed. Large quantities of earth are swallowed by the worms for the sake of the decomposing vegetable matter contained in it, on which they feed. The earth thus swallowed is voided in spiral heaps, forming the worm castings. In this case the worm obtains food and at the same time excavates its burrows.

In addition to the food thus obtained half decayed leaves are dragged into the burrows, mainly for food, but also to plug the mouths of the burrows for the sake of protection. Worms are also fond of manure, especially fat. They will also eat the dead bodies of their relatives. They are nocturnal in habit, remaining, as a rule, in the burrows during the day and coming out to feed at night.

The earthworm has no eyes, but is affected by strong light if exposed to it for some time. It has no sense of hearing, but is sensitive to the vibrations of sound. The whole body is sensitive to touch. There appears to be some sense of smell, but this is limited to a certain articles of food, which are discovered by the worm when buried in earth, in preference to other bodies not relished. The worm appears to have some degree of intelligence from the way in which it draws the leaves into its burrows, always judging which is the best end to draw them in by. This is remarkable in so lowly organized an animal, being a degree of intelligence not possessed by many animals of more complex organization. For instance, the ant can often be seen dragging objects along traversely instead of taking them the easiest way.

As we have seen, vast quantities of earth are continually being passed through the bodies of worms and voided on the surface as castings. When it is stated that the number of worms in an acre of ordinary land suitable for them to live in is 50,000, we can imagine the great effect which they must have on the soil.

They are, in fact, continually plowing the land. At one part of the alimentary canal of the worm is a gizzard, or hard muscular organ, capable of grinding food into fine particles. It is this gizzard which is the main factor in triturating the soil, and it is aided by small stones swallowed with the earth, which act as millstones.

In consequence of the immense amount of earth continually being brought to the surface by worms it is not difficult to understand how objects, such as stones, rocks, etc., lying on the surface will in course of time become gradually buried in the ground. Owing to the burial of stones and other objects by the action of worms, ancient monuments, portions of Roman villas and other objects of antiquity have been preserved. These have been gradually buried by the worms and so preserved from the destructive effect of rain and wind. Many Roman remains were studied by Darwin, and traces of the action of worms found, to which action their preservation was mainly due. The sinking of the foundations of old buildings is due to the action of worms, and no building is safe from this unless the foundations are laid lower than the level at which the worms can work—namely, about eight feet below the surface.

Another useful effect produced by worms is the preparation of the soil for the growth of seedlings. By their agency the soil is periodically sifted and exposed to the air, and in this way is able to absorb moisture and absorb soluble substances of use for the nutrition of plants.—Knowledge.

The coming of a national convention to the city means the expenditure there of $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 for the benefit of local residents.

A card on the outside of office door says:

"Gone to lunch. Be back in ten minutes." And, the man will be there on time. That is, for some days, weeks or even months, he will. Then he will be at home occasionally for a day. He'll tell you he had a headache—a turn of cholera morbus, or maybe he'll say he had a lump in his stomach and felt too miserable to move. The lump was probably two or three ten-minute lunches condensed. They were hurried in, but they were taking their own time about getting out, or even "moving on."

This is a great mistake, but as long as there's life there's a chance to rectify mistakes. The man who "bolts" his lunches will find Dr. J. J. Becker's Pellets the best friend he ever met. The "Pellets" may not hurry as much as the man does, but they will do the work for which they are intended—surely—promptly—effectually.

There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure. They are not disagreeable to take, neither are the effects disagreeable. They are gentle laxatives. They cure permanently. There's no danger of forming a "Pellet habit." Therefore, you don't become a slave to their use.

PROBABLY A GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

A Government building in Reno is among the probabilities. The House Committee on Appropriations has reported favorably a bill for a $50,000 building in this town. Such a building is required for the Surveyor General's office, for a postoffice and for the Internal Revenue Collector's office.

The necessity for such a building is not questioned, but that our Representative should have sufficient influence to secure a favorable recommendation from the Committee on Appropriations for an appropriation of $50,000 for a building must astonish those who heard our present statesmen say in the last campaign that Mr. Newlands, as a Silver party man, could do nothing in Congress. He would not be recognized by the old parties, those statesmen argued, would not be placed on any committee, would be of no benefit to the people, and the State would virtually be without representation in the House as well as in the Senate. That the great men who made these dire predictions were mistaken in that as in very many other things, recent events have proved. Mr. Newlands is on two of the principal committees and is the only member from the Pacific Coast in the House thus honored. At a recent meeting of the Banking and Currency Committee, while considering the bill introduced by Johnson of Indiana, Mr. Newlands made a ten minutes speech in which he exposed the obnoxious features of the measure, and a member of the committee said he had received more light on the question from Mr. Newlands in 10 minutes than from the endless talk of the three months past.

Now it is probable that Mr. Newlands may succeed in getting the bill through the House, as he has secured a favorable report from the committee, and if he does there is not much doubt of our Senators getting it through the Senate.

The fact is, Nevada is as ably represented in Congress as it could be with one representative in a body of 350 members. Mr. Newlands is as influential as any one member outside of Maine, which, owing to the Speaker being a candidate for President from that State, is of great prestige, and no man stands higher in the Senate than the members from Nevada.

LET US WORK TOGETHER.

The sheep-shearing season is at hand and woolgrowers are despondent, as Nevada fleeces are quoted in San Francisco at from 6 to 8 cents per pound. This is a gloomy outlook for sheepmen, but it is not as dark as the view presented to the mine owner, who sees only abandoned mines, rusting mills and deserted villages. Neither is it much more dismal than the situation in the farming valleys, as the products of the soil are as cheap as those of the range or the mines.

This condition of affairs is attributed to one of two causes—the tariff and the gold standard. The manufacturer and all who were benefited directly by a high tariff say the depression is the result of a reduction in tariff schedules, though the difference between the McKinley and Wilson schedules averages only a fraction over 11 per cent. Another class, equally as intelligent, claim that the dull times are the logical and inevitable result of demonetizing one-half of the primary money of the world.

Now, if either is right, prosperity must necessarily follow the advance in tariff rates and the restoration of silver. A proposition was recently made in the United States Senate by Allen of Nebraska to enact a law embodying the principal features of the McKinley Act and providing for the coinage of gold and silver at the mints on the conditions which existed prior to 1873. Aldrich of Rhode Island, speaking for the Republicans, scornfully repudiated the offer. His party would accept no tariff measure which provides for the free coinage of silver. Do the woolgrowers of Nevada uphold Senator Aldrich and the party for which he felt authorized to speak? The silver men do not object to a reasonable tariff and are ready to vote for the Dingley bill, passed by a Republican House, if the Republicans will vote for free coinage. This the Republicans will not do, so the country is to be afflicted with dull times, whether they are caused by lowering the tariff or the adoption of the gold standard. There is no current production of money, and the old stock is very little in use. Why not have all the woolgrower, the mineowner, the farmer and the mechanic, work together for protection and the production of money, and thus insure prosperity, whichever theory is correct.

UNITED WE WIN

It is conceded in Washington that if the friends of silver unite on one man they will elect him President by an overwhelming majority. Unfortunately the friends of silver are divided and are fighting each other. The gold men hope to keep them divided and will spend money for that purpose in the next election. Wall street has adopted the tactics of General Harney in fighting Indians many years ago. The various tribes were at peace with each other and were very aggressive. The lives of white settlers were endangered, and as the Seminoles were on the war-path in Florida, the Government had but few troops to send to the West, as the whole regular army comprised only a few thousand men. General Harney suggested that the whites get the different tribes to fighting each other. Trappers and half-breeds were hired to go among the Indians and stir up strife, and in a very short time the Pottawattomies, Pawnees, Sioux and other tribes were scalping each other. General Harney went up the Platte, defeated the Indians at Ash Hollow, established posts at Kearney and Laramie, and a few companies of soldiers kept the whole Indian country quiet. Now the gold trust is playing the Harney tactics on the silver men, and it is feared they will have no difficulty in getting half-breeds to stir up strife among them and keep them divided, so they can be easily beaten next November.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS.

Items of Interest From Here, There and Everywhere.

An Indiana man has made application for his ninth divorce and he didn't begin his matrimonial career until he was 55 years old.

Thousands of acres of land have been taken up in Southern Nevada recently, and it is reported that many acres will be under cultivation this year.

Chemists say it takes more than twice as much sugar to sweeten preserves and sauces if put in when they begin to cook as it does if the sugar is added after the cooking is done.

Chicago's funds have run so low that many street lamps are allowed to remain unlighted as a measure of economy. Every intelligent footpad approves of this means of saving money.

The DeLamar Lode says work is steadily going on in State Line District and before many weeks sufficient high grade ore will be on the dumps to commence shipments to the Salt Lake market.

The Central Nevada says our sheep men expect to shear their flocks in a few days. A large number of sheep shearers from Montana have been here for the past two weeks waiting for the shearing to commence.

Several important discoveries have been made in connection with the X rays by Stephen H. Ekmens of this city, who claims to have succeeded in obtaining the rays from the ordinary sunbeams and has taken excellent pictures therewith.

The Central Nevada says the railroad men are pleased over the report that San Francisco parties have contracted with the Colorado coal mine owners to supply various interests in the city with coal to the amount of fifty cars daily. This supply has hitherto been furnished by vessels. If this proves to be true it means the running of two loaded trains daily west and the return of empty cars east.

SAM DAVIS WINS.

A Victory for the Press Association. S. P. Davis of the Carson Appeal printed the assessment roll of Ormsby county, for which the law allows 20 cents a name. Mr. Davis presented a bill for that amount, but the Commissioners refused to allow it, though the Board allowed a less amount. Suit was brought for the full amount, and Judge Mack rendered judgment for plaintiff in accordance with the prayer of the complaint. Mr. Davis was backed in this suit by the Nevada Press Association, and Alf Chantz, the attorney for the association, prosecuted the suit for plaintiff, as the rates were in accordance with law and the rules of the Association.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

R. B. Randall who killed his son near La Grange, California, strangled himself to death in the Sonoma jail. John Winders, a notorious wife beater, was found hanging in the woods near Hopkinsville, Ky. He had been lynched by vigilantes who had repeatedly warned him to leave.

B. H. Milliken, who was accused of house-breaking with intent to commit rape on the daughter of ex-Solicitor-General Phillip at Washington, was declared not guilty by a jury yesterday.

About sixty maps have reached Washington from Venezuela, which with other documentary evidence will be used to show British encroachments before the Venezuelan Commission.

David Oldham, Deacon of the Methodist Church at Ukiah, convicted of stage robbery, has been granted a new trial by the Supreme Court of California. He was convicted on the evidence of John Hilton, who confessed his guilt.

A dynamite explosion occurred at Elliott City, Maryland, yesterday, where men were grading for an electric road. Ex-Tax Collector J. O. Leggett and a colored laborer were killed. Persons some distance away were stunned by the shock and thrown to the ground.

Viavi.

Viavi is more of a food than a medicine. I should be glad to have those who do not understand its use, call and get a Health Book free and read the home testimonials. Viavi sales in 1895 exceeded those in 1894 by half a million dollars. Mrs. E. E. HUNTER, Fourth Street.

C. E. Skinner is prepared to do the finest work in his art. His work will compare with any on the Coast, and his prices are in keeping with the times.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore so important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be recommended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
